About Maruti Suzuki Insurance Broking

Maruti Suzuki Insurance Broking - Bringing Smiles to Vehicle Owners, since 2002

In the year 2000-2001, Maruti Suzuki observed that there is a great need to enhance customers' value proposition in the field of Motor Insurance and hence decided to get into the business of Motor Insurance distribution. Customer convenience in every aspect of the business along with fairness and transparency in policy issuance and claims were taken as the objectives.

In year 2002, through corporate agency route, Maruti Suzuki ventured in its Insurance distribution venture to provide best in class Insurance Services to the customers. The business set newer benchmarks of success and has created delight for over 8.6 Cr customers in its working span of Over two decades.

In year 2012, Maruti Suzuki migrated to Broking through its joint venture company, Maruti Suzuki Insurance Broking Private limited. Today, with over 94 million "Happy customers", Maruti Suzuki Insurance Broking is the one of the largest Insurance Broking Services provider in India ensuring complete peace of mind for its customers, fulfilling their motor insurance needs on end to end basis.

The Pan-India presence ensures efficient service, across 500+ cities from the highest mountains of Leh to the least inhabited islands of Andaman, from the barren desert of Kutch to the green valleys of Imphal.

Insurance Myths

Comprehensive insurance covers everything

Fact: A comprehensive car insurance policy has various exclusions and limitations that will affect your claim to get all expenses reimbursed. You must read the policy document properly and ensure your claim is not affected by these exclusions and limitations.

Myths About Motor Insurance

Comprehensive insurance is unnecessary

Only the driver is liable in an accident

Comprehensive insurance covers everything

Old cars won't be a target for theft

CNG or LPG kits reduce the insurance premium

Insurers ask owners to pay the costs and then reimburse them

Myth 1: Comprehensive insurance is unnecessary

Fact: As per the Motor Vehicle Act 1988, Third Party Liability cover is mandatory for all vehicles plying on public roads in India. However, it is advisable to have a comprehensive motor insurance as it covers loss or damages to your vehicle including any damages suffered by the third party and/or occupants.

Myth 2: Only the driver is liable in an accident

Fact: The owner of the vehicle is primarily responsible in the event of an accident. He is liable to the third party for all damages suffered by the said third party and also for any damages suffered by the occupants.

Myth 3: Comprehensive insurance covers everything

Fact: A comprehensive vehicle insurance policy has various exclusions and limitations that will affect your claim to get all expenses reimbursed. You must read the policy document properly and ensure your claim is not affected by these exclusions and limitations.

Myth 4: Old cars won't be a target for theft

Fact: Newer vehicle models are often fitted with security systems or anti-theft devices, thus making vehicle theft a more difficult scenario. If no new technology such as engine immobilizers and GPS locators are installed, then old cars are more likely to be stolen than new ones.

Myth 5: CNG or LPG kits reduce the insurance premium

Fact: Cars equipped with CNG or LPG kits are classified as high-usage vehicles and as such, chances of them being involved in an accident are also much more. Their insurance premium is therefore higher to cover the additional risk.

Myth 6: Insurers ask owners to pay the costs and then reimburse them

Fact: Quite a few insurance companies offer cashless repairs. This means that you only pay for what is not covered under your policy. The rest is paid directly by the insurer to the dealer without you having to bear any costs.

Endorsement

An insurance endorsement refers to any change/correction made to your existing motor insurance policy.

It is required in instances such as changes in vehicle ownership, addition of a CNG / LPG kit, increase / decrease in coverage, taking an optional cover, change in geographical area, addition or removal of electrical accessories and so on. There is no alteration made in the original policy, instead an Endorsement Certificate is provided to such changes.

Premium Bearing Endorsements

1. Endorsement of Ownership Transfer (IMT 3)
2. Addition of LPG / CNG Kit (IMT 25)
3. Changes to Personal Accident Cover (IMT 16)
4. Removal of Anti-Theft Device (IMT 10)
5. Installation of Electrical Accessories / Non-Electrical Accessories (IMT 24)
6. Extension of Geographical Area (IMT 1)
7. Removal of Recognized Automobile Association Membership (IMT 8)
8. Endorsement for Rally Participation
9. Correction in Customer Type

Non-Premium Bearing Endorsements

1. Correction of Registration Number
2. Correction in Prefix, Customer Name/Corporate Name
3. Correction in Gender, Customer's Address, City
4. Changes in Hire Purchase Agreement, Lease Agreement, Hypothecation Agreement (IMT 5 / 6 / 7)
5. Correction in Nominee Details
6. Change in Contact Details, Mobile Number

1 What are the types of Car Insurance?

What are the types of Car Insurance?

There are two forms of motor insurance: Liability Only policy that covers bodily injury and/or death, property damage to third party and also provides personal accident cover to the occupants. The second being Comprehensive policy that covers loss or damage to the vehicle insured in addition to the Liability Only policy.

As per the Motor Vehicle Act 1988, Liability Only policy, also known as Act Only policy, is mandatory for all vehicles plying on public roads in India. This cover protects against any liability arising from bodily injuries and/or death, property damages to a third party. It also includes a Personal Accident cover for the owner-driver. Comprehensive Insurance, also known as Package Policy, covers loss or damage to the insured vehicle in addition to the Liability Only policy.

The following risks that can cause damage to the insured vehicle are covered:

Fire, Explosion, Self-ignition or Lightening

Terrorism, Riot and Strike, Malicious Act

Burglary, Theft and Home Breaking

Earthquake, Storm, Tempest, Flood inundation, Landslide or Rockslide

4 How is the sum insured calculated?

How is the sum insured calculated?

Sum Insured is fixed at the commencement of each policy period and known as Insured Declared Value (IDV). It is fixed on the basis of manufacturer's listed selling price, adjusted for depreciation, defined under the Indian Motor Tariff.

For Own Damages

The sum insured is based on the Insured Declared Value (IDV) of the vehicle. IDV is the value assigned to the vehicle by the insurance companies based on the manufacturer's present value of the vehicle and the depreciation percentage based on its age. Some companies may also consider the accessories to get the final IDV.

For Third Party

Third Party Liability Insurance is mandatory under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. It provides protection against injury or damages to third parties or their belongings in case of an accident. Insurance companies also provide a Personal Accident cover that covers accidental death or permanent total disability for the owner-driver of the insured vehicle.

5 What is No Claim Bonus (NCB)?

NCB is a discount given by insurance companies while renewing a motor insurance policy if the owner has not made a claim during the previous policy period(s). The NCB can be accumulated upto maximum of 50% on OD premium.

NCB is transferable from previous policy to new policy of same class of vehicle but cannot be transferred from a private policy to a commercial policy.

The standard rates of NCB are:

No Claim Period	Discount Rates on Own Damage Premium
1 year of no claim	20%
2 consecutive years of no claim	25%
3 consecutive years of no claim	35%
4 consecutive years of no claim	45%
5 consecutive years of no claim	50%
